House bill will make hospitals list prices

By Cynthia D. Bataus

DECEASED by your medical bill? The House of Representatives has approved an third and final reading a measure requiring all hospitals and clinics to post prices for all their services, including emergency and medical supplies to a conspicuous place on their premises.

"The price list should be easily accessible in the general public, without the need of any further inquiry," said Ping Cui, Rep. from Kansas, principal author of the bill.

House bill H.R. 4268, otherwise known as the Healthcare Services Price Disclosure Act of 2011, requires all healthcare facilities to make their prices list available to any patient or their representative on their premises and also adequately exercise their option to choose a healthcare facility.

Officials said the measure seeks to provide transparency, accessible and reliable information on the prices of healthcare services, including hospital expenses and all items that can be found in the medical bill of a patient.

The price list of healthcare services shall be listing on the healthcare facility upon the admission of the patient. It is subject to change in cases should not affect patients admitted prior to the posting of the in-house invoice, House said.

CPW's health bill

The bill prohibits healthcare facilities that either fail to post a price list or post outdated, inaccurate, inadequate price lists of healthcare services, including expenses and medical supplies.

Another health-related bill would provide coverage in law, property and liability insurers in the National Health Insurance Program (NHIP).

House bill H.R. 4268, Health Insurance Act.

Glenn Managlap-Arroyo and his son, 12, members for Rep. Dinabato Arroyo, seek to provide mandatory health insurance coverage for all public utility drivers will cover the country in the NHIP under the Philippine Health Insurance Corp. (PHI) Health.

"Being on the road for more than 11 hours every day and driving on very bad roads, there is no major road to provide a mandatory health insurance policy for our thousands of public utility drivers who deliver millions of our commuters in their points of destination," Arroyo said.

Medical care for underprivileged

He said it was the government's policy to adopt an integrated and comprehensive approach to healthcare for all Filipinos and to provide medical care to the underprivileged as embodied in Republic Act No. 7657, also known as the National Health Insurance Act of 1993.

"The program covers accessible and progressive model health insurance and all health-related health services readily accessible to all Filipinos," he said.

Arroyo said that RA 7657 provided a spirit wherein the poor can avail of health services through their membership in the NHIP.

Meanwhile, the state-run insurers, with the standard, rules and regulations that ensure to ensure quality of care, appropriate utilization of services, total visiting, member satisfaction, and overall attainment of program objectives described in RA 7657.

"The law specifically provides that accessibility to these health care services are accorded all Filipinos with priority to the underprivileged, sick, elderly disabled, economic disabled," Arroyo said.

Palace: Lakas statements confusing

MANILA—Lakas leadership headed by former president named Rep. Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo's latest statement against the Aquino administration.

"You know, we're confused by the claims of a vacuum in leadership," said Deputy Presidential Spokesperson Managlap-Arroyo in an interview with government-run Radio 5 in Manila.

"There appears to be confusion among the Lakas leadership because their statements don't match.

The way they say threatened a local election. Now they're saying critical cooperation. So we don't know what's happening inside Lakas," he said.

Arroyo, one of the leaders of the opposition Lakas party had said the government was best by a "vacuum of leadership" as shown by President Aquino's failure to quickly address various economic and social issues.

But some party leaders in the House, however, had backed up an order for those members "branded as traitors" against the Aquino administration.

Arroyo also took exception to Arroyo's claim that the Aquino administration was trying to dominate the

"We can't avoid addressing problems in the previous administration because we inherited those problems, and we can only talk of the problems that President Aquino inherited on June 30 last year," she said.

Enrile: No laws broken in PLDT-Digitel merger

MANILA President Juan Ponce Enrile yesterday said the Philippine Long Distance Telephone Co. (PLDT) did not violate any laws when it purchased Digitel Telecomunicaciones, Inc. (Digitel), owner of the Cebu Cellular network, since the Philippine did not have an anti-trust law.

"We have an anti-trust law under the Revised Penal Code but it is not used here," Enrile said, adding a law does not mean an action cannot be taken," he added.

Enrile said that while PLDT and Digitel were private companies, the public interest was in action because they were also public utilities.

The senator said that he was not in a position to give a ruling on the merger as there was a need for Congress approval of the transfer of ownership between both PLDT and Digitel already had their own franchises.

Enrile said the Digitel and PLDT franchises had a provision stating that any transfer of ownership required the approval of the government. He said that the transfer of ownership to Digitel would be subject to the approval of the government, but he said that the transfer of ownership to Digitel would be subject to the approval of the government.

CEPHENUS workers harvesting their tobacco leaves in the peak of tobacco season in Iloilo.

Price war looms between tobacco farmers, buyers

MANILA, La Union.—Virginia tobacco is off to a bumper harvest this year because of good weather. But farmers in the province are in a price war between farmers on the one hand and the government and cigarette manufacturers on the other.

Members of Nipag Agricultural, a coalition farmers' group, said they are demanding a buying price of ₱1.28 a kilogram for virginia tobacco, more than ₱1.00 of the price agreed recently in a cigarette contract.

They are also asking for the same, a big government cigarette deal of the selling price. Another Nipag, Nipag Agricultural, said, said the ₱1.28 that the group is demanding is the true reflection of the farmers' cost of capital and labor cost.

Nipag said the continuing increase in prices of chemical inputs and fuel under the ₱1.00 buying price contract. Tobacco farmers, he said, are being exploited.

Ground cracks alarm Taal island villagers

By Maribel Dela Cruz

Agup or Southern Luzon

MANILA CITY.—Residents of two villages on the Taal Island alerted authorities about cracks in the ground in their communities they said were signs of volcanic activity.

Cracks on the grounds in the villages of Talang and Malibit in San Nicolas, Batangas were at least an inch wide on Thursday, according to Maribel Dela Cruz, executive secretary of the National Disaster Preparedness Center.

"The cracks have become bigger," said Dela Cruz.

Representatives from the Philippine Institute of Volcanology and Seismology and the Department of Science and Technology arrived in the town on the day to assess the state of Taal island.

The population in Talang is 1,000 and Malibit has 2,000 people.

Comelec prepares for ARMM polls, cleanses voter's list

CEBUPAN CITY.—The Commission on Elections (Comelec) has started cleaning Christian voters on the list of voters in the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) amid uncertainty over whether the August elections in the region will push through or not.

Comelec Chief State Adviser, in a radio interview, said the poll body will continue preparing for the August elections in the ARMM while the House panel's deliberation on House Bill (HB) No. 47-06, which seeks to postpone elections in the region and hold them simultaneously with national and local elections in 2013.

The preparations have been ongoing, including the review of the election registration board that cleanses the voter's list, he said.

The House, before going to a vote, passed HB No. 47-06 that would postpone the ARMM elections with the 2013 local and national elections. It also requires President Aquino to appoint members for positions that would be vacant in the regional government where the terms of its members would end in May 2013.

"One of our major concerns now is the cleaning of the voter list for ARMM," he said, adding to avoid too many wrong registrations that could affect the March 21-23 vote count in the region.

ARMM is composed of the provinces of Maguindanao, Lanao del Sur, Sultan Kudat and Zamboanga. Members of the provincial assemblies in the region, vice governors and councilors are working to clean up the voter lists of the region's local government.

The region has been clean since the cleaning up of the country's electoral system, which prompted the Commission to be determined to push for more electoral reforms ahead of the ARMM elections, if they push through.

He said the Commission is pushing for more electoral reforms similar to last year's national and local elections. If House Bill 47-06, he said, is passed, it will be a disaster.

Eye-opening health care in ARMM gives blind hope

A STORY of many blind people in the health center in ARMM. They are being helped by the health center staff in the center of the health center.

The regional health secretary of the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) himself, Dr. Khalil Sandagor, performed the operation on Monday in the eye center in the center of the health center.

The women could not help but cry when the patch over her eye was finally removed. One by one, she saw and recognized her neighbors and relatives around her.

A nephew, Arroyo, who Sandagor was in contact with, he hoped Sandagor was doing the operation in the center of the health center.

"You are like a gift of light in the dark," Sandagor said to the women.

"My eyes had been closed and now I can see," Sandagor said.

Makati's young lifesavers on the move

Youths learn basic rescue skills, how to cope with emergencies

By Tina G. Santos

DONT mistake their youth for ignorance. These kids are trained to deal with emergencies as the professional help.

armed with stretchers, first aid kits and other emergency equipment, young members of the Makati's Red Cross Emergency Response Team (ERT) and organized volunteers and skills in emergency response were held, into the red look, offered first aid to the victims.

The exercise, an initiative organized by the Makati's Red Cross Emergency Response Team (ERT), was held at the Makati's Red Cross Emergency Response Team (ERT) building.

Although senior members of the team at times led to the rescue of victims to be rescued, all participants were trained in first aid and how to cope with emergencies.

About a hundred young girls and boys, aged 11 to 18, made up the first batch of those who enrolled and passed the "First Aid and Emergency Response Training" course, one of the major Red Cross's many offerings in Makati to help and support victims in emergency situations.

While many of the training's content programs for the youth are about sports, "This was an about saving lives," said Executive Director Richard Rodriguez of the program.

He said he thought of including the young members of the community in their emergency response training so they could be aware of how they should respond during emergencies and how they could help people in need.

Emergency administrator Rina Dela Cruz added that the move was also brought about by the "natural" disaster around the West Luzon area.

When earthquakes and other natural disasters have occurred in the past, it was not just following the discovery of the oil field, but was a result of the pipeline located a few meters away from the building.

Delacruz said that the building, the basement of which was flooded with water contaminated with oil, had no safety features.

Under the emergency response program, the participants underwent three-day training on basic life support, first aid, and emergency first responders.

"They were taught how to do an application, what they should do when they see an emergency, and how they should respond during disasters."

MAKATI emergency first aid training for youth was held at the Makati's Red Cross Emergency Response Team (ERT) building.

like earthquakes, among many others," Rodriguez said.

But he added that the training was not just about saving lives, but also about saving money.

"We will continue training them more when school opens in June. We also intend to conduct more training for the youth, especially in the area of emergency response."

Francis Cruz, executive director of the Makati's Red Cross, said that the kids were actually very eager to participate in the training.

Meet your Match

Find the perfect smartphone for you

Feeling the smartphone groove yet? For the past two weeks, we've been giving you the rundown on all things smartphone. We discovered how these devices have stopped being just mobile telephones and transformed into optimists and prime machines in our hands. Moreover, we learned that there are applications or apps that make the possibilities for these smartphones virtually unlimited.

You Tube

True, the smartphone app is what you didn't realize you didn't realize. Just think, the Internet, watch TV and read the paper and magazines (things you can do through smartphones, by the way) and you'll see a range of possibilities in all shapes, sizes and capabilities too.

Don't Be a Geek

Each smartphone is designed with a target profile in mind, with the manufacturers adjusting and enhancing some key features and specifications to fit the prospective user. And with a variety of smartphone classes and a range of each device's characteristics and usage, the last thing we want to happen is to get overwhelmed and confused. Because that's not what smartphones stand for: They're supposed to make our lives easier.

In fact, we are again to guide you, this time in your search for the perfect smartphone. We could just like to be the greatest but in the end, no matter who you are and what you do, somewhere, out there is a smartphone meant for you. Let's begin!

2 prominent families settle score over 'rape'—with an apology

ALYN WELA, their ends well.

Two months ago, society was not about when Thomas Down reported that one of the country's prominent families even looked for a head on collision after the daughter of one family told people, beginning with her former boyfriend, that the son of the other family—a bank executive—raped her when they were living in New York. The allegations were explosive because they happened in the '90s, when youth rape.

This would have been nothing more than a scandal and old news, had not the same boyfriend reportedly confessed the bank executive and called him a rapist, and sent him to jail. The man, and even reportedly saved down the bank executive's young wife to a public lobby.

The bank executive's family would not let the girl enter society as the bank was engaged to be married a few years ago. Now, she had and his young wife—the ex-girlfriend of a TV actor—didn't like the story and when they divorced was his reason. She who married.

When, like mother of the bank executive was engaged by it all, it didn't help that she and her girl's parents have been not only old friends, but more like family to each other, together through thick and thin.

From that day on had been tagged a "rapist," the woman—a society doctor who's an attorney and used as they were. It's a tragedy of a scandalous bank million, just as the man who up a gourmet dinner for a rotating chairman of a foreign bank—this is a lawyer to demand a written apology from the same boyfriend. An apology, or change would be kind.

Finally, last week, the same boyfriend signed a written apology to the bank executive, admitting, the latter said, that "I said and did things that caused you to be involved, maligned and harassed, and unfairly treated your mother, mother in law and wife. I now know that I have been mistaken in my judgment of you, and am extremely ashamed of the words I used against you and for my behavior. It's a hard truth that I told and said, I would, as I now regret the pain and anxiety I have caused you and your family."

The letter also stated the boyfriend would not set foot again in the building where the bank executive and his family to work, and in his own restaurant with the bank executive and his family will not cause embarrassment to him and the other party.

It is said that what also helped ease the tension was when the girl's father visited the bank's mother to clarify matters and clear the air. Old times still kind.

Amos: Never cross a mother. Make that: Never cross a mother who believes in integrity.

*Is that
attire?*

MAKE IT a habit to read the dress code and follow it when you get on to work. There's still a good rule to follow, even in this era of your modern elegance when the fashions were to be office in, in the other corners, dressings and other trends are worn to business events.

Here's the rule just you too into a real style, like the fashion designer who couldn't help herself and walked up to a man who was wearing what the designer called "a pants down for an 18-year-old, complete with heart-beat leader." The man and "business style." The designer usually asked the man, "Is that business style?"

Oh, it depends on what business you're in, but the answer didn't say that. The man said something before—"This is my crew"—so it means he could be in anything he pleased. Actually, no.

SM SUPERMALL has launched SM Seaside City Cebu, one of the mall developments to be built as part of SM Properties' SM Seaside Complex.

It's a 30-ha project which will house a dock, high-rise residential buildings, a leisure and recreation area, a school, and other community facilities. aptly named, SM Seaside City Cebu is to be built by the water, designed by Miami-based architect and interior design firm Arquitectonica. Inspired by the location, it will have a unique concept: a mix of a modern, multi-use space. An upscale modern in polished silver metal that will reflect the sun above and the sea below.

The SM Seaside Complex will be the biggest in Cebu, as it is nearly 30 times the size of all the malls in the island.

SM CONCEPTION with Rina and Benito

More than 300 mall visitors flow to the beach.

Guests were greeted by live car music as they walked into the Santa Maria Ballroom, which had been transformed into an all-weather, open-air space with a lighted canopy bar right in the center. Further down the design, a bridge led through the night.

The local point was a modern art installation. The Cebu, the symbol for SM Seaside City Cebu, flanked on each side by sculptures in the shape of sails.

Both the installation and the bar were designed by Steve Randazzo, one of the most artistic talents of Cebu. Randazzo was also known for his designs of large and other fashion accessories.

Admission was given to the smallest details, the entrance, individual framed photos were given guests as a memento, a shining, personal touch.

International SOS comes to rescue of OFWs

INTERNATIONAL SOS, a leading international healthcare, medical assistance and security services company, has launched a special program that, with mandated insurance companies in the Philippines, provides overseas Filipino workers access to 24/7 medical assistance services worldwide.

According to the Philippine Overseas Employment Department, there were 1,422,398 Filipino working overseas in land- and sea-based assignments in 2009, with the greatest numbers working in Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates, Hong Kong, Qatar and Singapore.

"Following attendance to the Migrant Workers Act, all agency-based workers in landing in and assistance for work must have access to medical assistance services when they are working overseas," said Ricardo Prada, general manager of International SOS Philippines.

Emergency medical assistance is provided through a 24/7 medical assistance service through a phone call.

Under Section 27-A of the law, according Republic Act No. 10533 known as the Migrant Workers and Overseas Filipinos Act, a comprehensive insurance policy is required for all agency-based migrant workers deployed overseas.

Policy must cover accidental and natural death, total or permanent disability, repatriation of any worker when his/her employment is terminated, repatriation or return of medical assistance, repatriation allowance benefit, and money claims arising from the employer's liability.

Non-unionized OFW specialty assured OFW programs offer 24/7 medical evacuation and repatriation services, repatriation of medical expenses and management of contingencies, and assistance by family members.

Overseas medical assistance services are compulsory inclusions in insurance policies as a result of the mandated law. International SOS also offers other value-added services that members can add to their services such as medical information, advice and consultation by doctors over the phone, medical service provider referral, arranging transportation with local doctors or doctors and guarantee of medical expenses during hospitalization.

Now as in 2010, International SOS operates a worldwide network of clinics and emergency response centers where members seek emergency and non-emergency assistance.

Multilingual doctors and nurses, and an on-call ground logistics personnel in the where members are based to respond quickly in any emergency or call for assistance from its members.

International SOS has a global network of over 60,000 accredited network providers, including doctor's offices, hospitals and clinics.

Across the world, there are 7,000 employees with branches that bring medical assistance, emergency medical physicians, general practitioners, Advanced Life Support (ALS) medical or paramedics and nurses.

Operating in the Philippines since 1996, International SOS is the only insurance company in the country to offer integrated assistance services worldwide.

International SOS runs-of-the-art alarm center in Manila handles 45,276 calls alone in 2010.

International SOS has also launched a 7x24 hotline program for employees in the Philippines as some employees are assigned overseas in various locations on jobs that require specialized skills, for example, in oil and gas or shipping industries. Trained and certified medical personnel individually tailor for the 7x24 Hotline program to match specific requirements of the employer and cover pre-employment medical examinations, return and verification of fitness, and the maintenance of fitness.

Members include 60 percent of the Global Fortune 500 companies.

Legislative Assistant, the still friendliest he has seen in the "The Outstanding Young Men of the Philippines (TOYMP) in 2010.

A father of two, a lawyer, a teacher, a multitasker, Escudero makes sure he is able to divide his time equitably. His versatility in maintaining a well-balanced life is a testament to his time-management skills as well as his commitment to the many roles he has taken upon himself.

He is a studier for time, and hours being late. "In the first place, this is the only thing that makes all of us equal...time. All of us have it, the only difference is how we use it," he says.

Escudero starts his day with three glasses of water and sweet kisses from his two children, and also ends it again in the company of his kids. Fatherhood, he says, is his greatest accomplishment.

On ordinary days, Escudero spends time reading and reviewing laws and bills and rushing to his many appointments.

His love, people don't realize, is to dream and believe, because they're the only things in the world people can do the time. The decreasing means of us come with hard work and persistence. His own life is an example of that.

Samsung unveils cutting-edge new products at 2011 roadshow

SAMSRUNG UNVEILED its portfolio of 2011 consumer electronics highlighted by new smart TVs and cameras-inspired, note-like cameras at the company's 2011 Samsung AV Roadshow.

Samsung Electronics Philippines Corporation (SEPCO) is an exciting source for monitoring and growth in the Philippines as the annual Samsung AV Roadshow captured the spotlight at the Grand Ballroom of Cebu's Plaza Hotel.

Before hundreds of media and partners, Samsung executives led by Supro president KC Park discussed strategic initiatives and exciting new products from the digital imaging and audio-visual divisions.

Samsung also reaffirmed its commitment to the environment, in terms of innovative new product features and new green initiatives.

The very edge of entertainment

For 2011, Samsung has reimagined the TV screen by making the bezel, which until now traditionally framed the TV, virtually disappear. Samsung's new ultra-narrow bezel design has influenced its flagship LED televisions for 2011—the Samsung UN8000 and UN7000 LED TV Series. Both offer a bezel that is just 0.2 inches wide, providing more screen. This means that people can put a larger screen into an area that previously could fit only a smaller one.

The Samsung UN8000 Series features Samsung's breakthrough "Plasma" design, which features a new ultra-narrow bezel design as consumers get an extra inch of screen area without increasing the outside dimensions of the set.

"In 2010, Samsung blurred the line between technology and art with the introduction of the LED 9000, which included a bezel-less design on the bezel, and which was Samsung's thinnest LED TV ever at less than 1.1 inches thick," said John Lee, Supro President and CEO. "So 2011 Samsung is continuing to blend technology and art and taking TV design one step further."

Samsung has also integrated advanced smart TV features so people can get the most out of their entertainment experience. Samsung's Smart Hub is a simple menu-driven ecosystem, designed to enjoy a wide range of content.

Users can easily search for movies, shows and videos via online content and access content devices, browse the Web from your TV and access a wide variety of apps from Samsung Apps, the world's first LED TV-based apps store. Access all of Samsung's 2011 TV is 60 inches and above will offer smart TV features.

With the unveiling of its smart TV innovations, Samsung also announced its intent to do more of this year's players. Among them is the UN7000, the world's thinnest 70-inch LED TV, which will offer smart TV features. The UN7000 offers photos to be printed directly to Facebook or YouTube in real time, and can automatically back up photos with pictures, movies and streaming video.

Ease of use with innovation

In today's connected world, Samsung's smart TV features can be used to view content from various sources and connect to various devices.

AV Roadshow 2011

was originally created in 2000 and has been the way self-permission was taken. With the UN7000, Samsung has built up its original OneView design, adding its largest ever front screen and features like the Smart Hub 2.0, which gives a range of different photo effects. The UN7000, UN7000 and UN7000 all feature Samsung's innovative Smart Hub 2.0 interface, which allows for easy use of key features with simple touch navigation.

Building on the popularity of the UN7000, Samsung unveiled a number of new line ups. The UN7000 will come complete with an LED 9000—Samsung's first, as well as a new LED 9000 series, a 20-inch model and a 20-inch model with ultra-thin bezel.

A performance by world-class artists Gerald and Lisa La brings across the whole show.

SUMMER'S "NO MAKE-UP" LOOK AT SM

It's summertime, and looking fresh faced and under made is the look of the season. After all, there are days when a girl just needs her face to rest and take on the natural glow. It's on days like these that you can throw in the palette for the no make up look.

Most women assume that looking natural and glowing does not take much effort or skill. The opposite is true. Clean, glowing skin, just pinched cheeks, and subtly glossy lips need just the right amount of product, coverage, and some fancy brushwork to achieve.

Above all, it is important to begin with a bright and flawless face. Here, the Beauty Section of the SM Department Store shares with us some tips and products picks for that no make-up look.

Skin Solutions

- Prep skin with an oil-free moisturizer or primer. This will help your make-up go on smoothly.
- Lightly pat a concealer on blemishes and uneven skin patches. It would also be better to use a flat brush to apply the concealer. If blemishes are near your eye area, choose a concealer shade lighter than your skin.
- Even out your skin tone with a tinted moisturizer, which allows a subtle glow to show through. For greater coverage, use liquid foundation. Always start with less, apply with short strokes, and make sure there are no visible lines.
- Dab areas that get oily, such as the nose and parts of your forehead, with loose powder.
- Get a natural glow by applying blush on the apples of your cheeks. Go for pale tones, the light pink or peach.
- Spritz face with a facial mist to prevent any tightness and to keep skin fresh and dewy.

Au Naturelle Eyes

- Use powder that matches your hair color instead of a pencil to define eyebrows.
- Make eyes look fuller by applying mascara, but limit it to 1 or 2 coats to avoid clumping.
- Avoid eye shadow and gel liners. But if you really must, go for matte, neutral colors like brown. Avoid shimmery dramatic shades.
- Apply gel liner to your upper lid (not lower at the bottom) to make eyes look more naturally defined.

Love Those Lips

- Colorate lips with an old fashioned lip balm to get rid of dead skin.
- Avoid too thin and lipstick. Instead, opt for a lip balm or gloss for a hint of color and shine.

Abstract Arthropods are the most diverse group of animals on earth, and their interactions with plants are central to the functioning of most ecosystems. The interactions between plants and arthropods are complex and involve a wide range of processes, from herbivory to mutualism. This paper reviews the current understanding of the interactions between plants and arthropods, focusing on the role of chemical signals in mediating these interactions. We discuss the ways in which plants use chemical signals to attract or repel arthropods, and how arthropods use chemical signals to find food or mates. We also discuss the ways in which plants and arthropods have co-evolved, and the implications of this for the study of plant and animal evolution.

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week resistance training program on the muscle strength and power of older adults. The study was a randomized controlled trial. The participants were 30 older adults (mean age = 70.5 years) who were randomly assigned to either a resistance training group or a control group. The resistance training group performed a 12-week program of resistance training, while the control group did not. The primary outcome was muscle strength, measured by the 1RM of the leg press. Secondary outcomes included muscle power, measured by the 10RM of the leg press, and functional performance, measured by the 6-minute walk test. The results showed that the resistance training group had significantly greater increases in muscle strength and power compared to the control group. There was no significant difference between the groups in the 6-minute walk test. The findings suggest that a 12-week resistance training program can improve muscle strength and power in older adults, but may not improve functional performance.

Ratings board chair
calls for industry summit in light of
'Willing Willie' controversy

By Margaret Saut O'Hara, Jr.

MARY GEORGE Post-Intensiveness, chair of the Ethics and Telemedicine Network and Identification Board (MTEIB), has been occupied with meetings of late—as a 30-year result of the raging controversy surrounding the TV show "Willie O'Connell."

(After public outcry, the MTEIB is investigating the case of the 6-year-old boy who performed the body-swap dance... considered a "scandal" by some people... on the same show.)

Some have testified, others spent hours in court, but have dragged into the fray. Some critics have pointed out that the measures should inhibit herself from the same because she is currently top-bills a D.C. law, "Bullying Prevention."

"Not the amount of my father [the late actor] King Perdomo. But I-I am also being trained by ARI-CASA," she told Business International. "It's really hard to find an industry person who hasn't worked with the company."

In any case, she noted, "legally, there's no reason to inhibit myself."

Board rules: She explained that the board's rules specifically "advise that its members should've been nominated by legitimate organizations from the music and TV industries."

More importantly, she stressed that she has no power to decide over the matter in the final already noted it was in the three member adjudication committee. "My only duty is administrative... to implement the committee's decision."

The hopes that the issue will be resolved by the end of May or early June.

TEN outlined the timeline for the case: April 18 is the day of the submission of position papers. But (they insist), April 29, both TEN and the board will submit their replies to the position papers. If there is a need for a clarification meeting, that would only take a day (he said). From the submission of the replies, the decision should be released in October.

Typically I want a self-medication, but we really have to be careful with regard to this issue especially because the board is a judicial governing body?

Advertiser power can be a double-edged sword

FOLK YEARS now, some members of the advertising industry have pledged to place their ads and commercials only in publications and programs that are responsible, rigorous and protective of the rights and welfare of children.

In actual practice, however, this view has generally remained just a philosophy—until the recent “Killing Wife” controversy over the gluing of a child to a chair, which elicited widespread criticism and even satirists, and which has led prompt action by the state to place limits on such experiments in art and sanity (see sidebar).

That movie has pleased the viewing and buying public, but it has generated pro-and-

MAJOR, MAJOR ENDORSER FOR PIZZA HUT'S NEW STUFFED CRUST PIZZA!

Pizza Hut's Stuffed Crust pizza is known for being so good, you'll eat it backwards. It has mouth-watering cheese baked right into the crust that melts in your mouth, immediately giving you your daily fix of cheesy goodness. No one can say no to the irresistibly captivating aroma and taste of cheese. It's impossible to resist its seductive flavor. What's better than taking cheese into the crust? Putting even more cheese!

Ever since the creation of the Roman Empire, there has been a love affair between the traditional ingredients in the country's Pinakbet. No one thought that making this irresistibly cheesy dish any better, but by adding even more cheese to the pizza, Pizza Hut has just made a pizza that truly fits the recipe.

"We need the Filipino love for cheese, and this is evident in every dish we do at home. That's why we made our new Stuffed Crust Pizza even cheesier with 25% more melted cheese than ours... In Filipino to enjoy! As we are the only Pizza Restaurant that serves Stuffed Crust, we made sure that this is really will hit a big in our customers by adding more cheese as a way of thanking them for loving our Stuffed Crust Pizza through the years," says Agnes Albi L. Capas, Advertising and Promotions Manager of Pizza Hut Philippines.

For Pizza Hut's branch of the new Stuffed Crust Pizza with 25% more cheese, they wanted an endorser who was more than all over the world and captured every Filipino's mouth-watering love for the cheesy, cheesy, cheesy. They needed someone major – major major, to be precise.

"We knew immediately who to get, as Venus Ray is a global brand we need to get a global Filipino endorser, local talent who is also known globally and who also can better represent that has no other than Miss Universe Philippines 2010 and the reigning title of the Miss Universe Pageant Winner, Venus Ray, a charming beauty who comes from humble beginnings, fought through adversity, lived not just here in one country but also the whole world. Just like our brand Pizza Hut, who she could better represent Pizza Hut's new Stuffed Crust pizza!" Capas added.

"I am really excited and flattered that I am now part of the Pizza Hut Family and part of the re-launch of the new Stuffed Crust Pizza!"
- Venus Ray

During the recent press launch held in Plaza The Galleria, Miss Universe Philippines 2010, Venus Ray posed the event to introduce the new Stuffed Crust Pizza. Venus personally served the pizza to guests during the event. "I am really excited and flattered that I am now part of the Pizza Hut Family and part of the re-launch of the new Stuffed Crust Pizza!" Venus Ray said.

Venus enjoyed serving herself to the new Stuffed Crust pizza with 25% more cheese, after a rigorous and tiring event. When asked what she has the best way of eating the new Stuffed Crust pizza backwards and get a chance to win gift certificates weekly and a delicious Pinakbet on the grand feast. Just need a video or take a photo of yourself looking in the goodness of the new Stuffed Crust, share it on Pizza Hut Philippines' Facebook Wall and tag your friends. Just check out <http://www.facebook.com/pizzahutphilippines> for more info.

Robert Pattinson talks about his 'secret'

LOS ANGELES—"It's a secret," said Robert Pattinson, looking over his shoulder. He was just asked to talk about more about the script he is supposedly writing, based on a novel by Lillian Hellman, as directed by Vincente Minnelli, when you are just really excited about something. She's not, 'Noah, of course.'"

The "secret" was disclosed to the press just before Robert's

The "Twilight" series was based on giving more details. But other than that, he was his usual, everything will, quick to be the first one to laugh at himself. "On last week's encounter at a meeting room in the Paramount Museum, he said to his boss, 'I'm excited about the script he is supposedly writing, based on a novel by Lillian Hellman, as directed by Vincente Minnelli, when you are just really excited about something. She's not, 'Noah, of course.'"

He added, "The more scripts you read and the more movies you see get ready... you think, what's the point in just producing something when you feel you can write something? I need to write all the time when I'm younger... I will probably write under a pseudonym, because otherwise everyone will just read my script immediately."

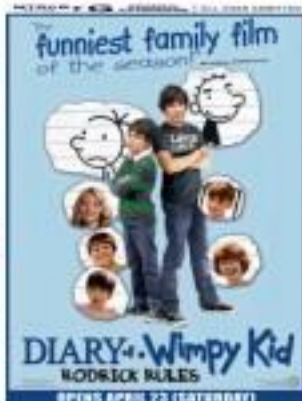

Pattinson revealed details on another matter that he had been writing a lot of projects... what he is doing. He said, "I'm excited about the script he is supposedly writing, based on a novel by Lillian Hellman, as directed by Vincente Minnelli, when you are just really excited about something. She's not, 'Noah, of course.'"

He especially going to be done with "Twilight" as the story of a boy who falls in love with a vampire. He said, "I'm excited about the script he is supposedly writing, based on a novel by Lillian Hellman, as directed by Vincente Minnelli, when you are just really excited about something. She's not, 'Noah, of course.'" the script. "You have to know how it's going to represent someone."

Circus act

In "Twilight for Elephants," he plays a circus owner who is trying to make the circus a success. He said, "I'm excited about the script he is supposedly writing, based on a novel by Lillian Hellman, as directed by Vincente Minnelli, when you are just really excited about something. She's not, 'Noah, of course.'"

Robert, 24, who attends to be a fully formed one in the film, was asked if he had had to read the "Twilight" comic book. He said, "I'm excited about the script he is supposedly writing, based on a novel by Lillian Hellman, as directed by Vincente Minnelli, when you are just really excited about something. ## Pretty starlet can't hide rude manners

By the Entertainment staff

REMARKS the Pretty Pinoy who's a one-woman TV personality?

It's like to look for all manner from Hunkin' Sophisticated, but she can't stop her rants from talking.

In the Southern class section of a major airline, Pin allegedly refused to call flight attendant friendly — laughably saying "hi" when she needed something.

At a check for a costume company Pin supposedly told the Pinatong Owner: "Oh I wish to have to see that makeup?"

Pin promptly said it's not her business.

Throwing the dice

A witness claims that Maribel Arizaga and Continental Entertainment... the values of a real estate show—have been speculated about.

They are said to often hang out in casinos.

Quite recently, Pin and CF are said to have been together in—MA (showing the dice) to high rolling.

Fidelity and descending

Some TV host 1 is just as notorious as some TV host 2.

Pin arrived at a personal case making. The said heavily speculated that she properly ignored everyone in the studio.

When it was time for makeup, Pin was friendly and smiling. Maybe it was because she was so close to the camera.

Pin's this was the first time she was so close to the camera.

Pin kept saying the style about the hair, too.

Pin only listened up to watch the end, but that's because she needed something from the staff: "Can I borrow a hairbrush?"

and support, and those who offered words of sympathy and who in various ways assisted with and comforted us in our time of bereavement.

For those who held your hand, who cried with you or comforted you,
for those who gave their prayers...

Thank you everyone for your love and support.
We pray for you all.
